01

Submit a Report

Fill in a quick form describing your lost or found item — item name, category, location, and a description.

02

Browse & Match

Other students browse reports. If someone recognises an item, they submit a claim request with proof.

03

Resolve & Close

Once a claim is verified, the report is marked Claimed or Closed and the item is returned to its owner.

Built for Campus Life

Every feature was designed with a real student workflow in mind.

Contact & Support

Student-Built

Made by UJ students, for UJ students — we understand campus life.

About UJ Campus Finder

A student-built campus support platform — created by students, for students.

OUR MISSION

Making Campus Life a Little Less Stressful

Every semester, dozens of students lose personal belongings on campus — phones, ID cards, textbooks, backpacks. And just as many students find items but have no structured way to return them.

UJ Campus Finder bridges that gap. It's a centralised, easy-to-use platform where students can report lost and found items, browse existing reports, submit claim requests, and reach out for help — all in one place.

This project was developed as part of our Web Development course at the University of Jeddah. Our goal was to build something genuinely useful for our campus community.

TECH STACK

Built with Standard Web Technologies

This project was intentionally scoped to technologies taught in our programme — no frameworks, no magic. Everything is built from the ground up using semantic HTML, hand-written CSS, vanilla JavaScript, Node.js with Express, and a MySQL database.

The goal was to demonstrate that a polished, functional web application doesn't require heavy dependencies — just solid fundamentals.

LAYER	TECHNOLOGY
Frontend	HTML5, CSS3, JavaScript (ES6+)
Backend	Node.js, Express.js
Database	MySQL, mysql2 driver
Auth	Session-based (simple)
Hosting	Local / University Server

KEY FILES `index.html` `reports.html` `claim.html` `server.js` `db.js` `routes/reports.js` `schema.sql`

Our Design Principles

Student-First

Every decision was made by asking: does this actually help a student?

Realistic Scope

We designed only what we could implement — no feature theatre.

Accessible Design

Clear labels, readable fonts, and logical form flows for all users.

Clean Code

Semantic HTML, organised CSS, modular JS — readable by any developer.
